ALDERMEN TRANSACTED CONSIDERABLE BUSINESS

Laborers Refused $2.50 per Shift. --- Overhead Electric Signs Discussed. --- Engineer's Typewriter Re-opens Old Sore. --- Policy of Lighting Business Brings Alderman Calhoun to His Feet.

The city council held a long and rather strenuous session last night at which the principal business accomplished was the appointment of J. W. Pace as commissioner to fill the place vacated by Mr. Hargreaves.

The first business was the consideration of the notice given by the laborers' union of their intention to ask $2.50 a day for eight hours on the sewers.

The council refused to deal with the demand, taking the position that if they were to get the $2.50 they should get it as individuals on the works instead of as a union before the council.

H. W. B. Douglas and W. H. Graydon appeared to say a word regarding overhead electric signs.

They contended that the overhead electric sign was a benefit as it helped to light the streets at no cost to the city.

Ald. Griesbach asked if they would be willing, providing the electric signs were allowed to stand, to keep them lit for a certain number of hours, say until 12:30 p.m.

Mr. Douglas said they would and asked that the council appoint a committee to look into the matter.

Ald. Griesbach, Mays and Manson were appointed a committee and on their report the electric signs will go on stay.

Ald. Latta took occasion to make the motion, of which he had given notice, that balconies, projecting not more than three feet on the street be permitted. There was an extended discussion as to whether the balconies were an adornment or a detriment to the streets.

Finally Aldermen Smith, Manson and Picard were appointed a committee to inquire and report.

Alderman Bellamy presented the accounts and a slight aftermath of the city engineer-commissioner fight of three months ago came up.

It appears that Engineer Keeley had a Remington Standard typewriter put in his office on three months' trial. The time was up and the agent sent in the bill. The finance committee did not recommend the payment of the account, Secretary Kinnaird explaining that the typewriter had been purchased without reference to the commissioners. Engineer Keeley explained that the typewriter had not been purchased, and was not purchased yet; it was merely in on trial. He needed a typewriter in the office and the account was before the council as a request that the typewriter be purchased.

This took 15 or 20 minutes of the council's time. Eventually Ald. Picard and Bellamy moved that the accounts not certified to be laid on the table, which of course meant the engineer's typewriter, and the council divided on much the old lines. Aldermen Picard, Behmy, Manson and Smith voting yes and Aldermen Griesbach, Mays, Latta and Calhoun voting nay. Mayor May gave his casting vote in favor of purchasing the typewriter, adding as he did so that it was a small matter, and he thought that the finance committee might well have recommended the purchase.

An account of the Bulletin's for $373.75 for advertising attracted some attention. Ald. Griesbach thought that the account was high and suggested in facetious vein that the city might start a gazette of its own, something on the lines of the Alberta Gazette.

Alderman Bellamy thought that competitive bids should be called for.

Secretary Kinnaird stated that the principle item in the account was the advertising of a couple of by-laws which had been advertised in a weekly paper and which the council had considered had not been given due and sufficient publicity. The account was according to the Bulletin's published rate card. The account was passed.

One other account brought out a lengthy discussion. It read: Machinery for power house $1,727.75.

Ald. Calhoun re-opened the question of the city's policy in conducting the lighting business. He wanted the account charged to capital instead of being taken from revenue, arguing that new capital should not be added to the city's plant without a new charge on capital account being entered up against it. He believed that the surplus should be divided among consumers instead of being used for capital expenditure and that he had been arguing this on an occasion before when the secretary-treasurer had "batted in" and informed him that that was not the city's system of book-keeping.

Ald. Griesbach had said on that occasion (when they were discussing the disposal of a $10,000 surplus) that he was willing to vote for anything that would look like a "boost" for government ownership. He (Calhoun) now thought that Ald. Griesbach would have an opportunity to vote for the proper principle of municipal ownership.

Ald. Bellamy: "I think the book-keepers are quite capable of doing the bookkeeping."

Ald. Calhoun: "I think the book-keepers are quite capable of doing the bookkeeping, but I don't think they should butt in on a discussion of the council."

Mayor May ruled that Ald. Calhoun was out of order as they were discussing the payment of an account, not a matter of policy.

Ald. Calhoun then changed his tactics and gave the following notice of motion to come up at the next regular meeting: Machinery for power house $1,727.75. "I move that this be not charged to revenue account but to capital account and that the council is of the opinion and so instructs the commissioners, that in future all permanent additions and improvements to the plant of any municipal revenue producing undertaking be charged to capital and not to revenue account and that revenue should be applied in reduction of the charges to consumers or users."

Ald. Picard made a motion that all users of light on Jasper avenue be given a flat rate of 50 cents per light in their show windows.

Ald. Calhoun said if his motion, of which he had given notice, carried, he would move for a reduction all around.

Ald. Bellamy said he thought the motion was out of order. If a reduction was to be given on Jasper avenue they should be given to every business place on every street in the town. He thought also that where lights were used in front of residences, these also should be included.

Ald. Mays seconded the motion and it was carried.

Ald. Bellamy protested against the motion and said he believed it could be upset.

Ald. Calhoun wanted a fifteen minute extension of time to show that the celebrated cement mixer was not mixing; that it was on strike again, so to speak, but unanimous consent to the extension could not be secured and the council adjourned.

It is only remains to be laid a pipe on Jasper avenue attention in order to complete the city's program in the east end. After that attention will be turned to the west end where a pipe is to be laid on Second Street, paralleling the sewer laid their last year. SERIES FINISHES IN VICTORY

Caps Reached From the Basement and Grabbed Final Game

Edmonton won the fifth and last game of the Maroon series yesterday by a score of 6 to 5, notwithstanding that the small boy who posts the shiny tin numbers had a different hunch and stuck it up 5 to 5.

Properly, the game should have been a shut-out, and had it not been for Gleason's characteristic playing, a couple of bad errors by Deaton and a long quiet sleep by Yeazel the Maroons would have gone home skinned to the hoof and blanked to the last call. Out of seven chances Gleason piled up three errors.

As it was their pretty pitcher, Mr. Jasper Ferdinand Wiggle De Vere Bushelman, the green-eyed blonde with the concave chest was batted out of the lot and his flaxen hair was dragging in the dust inside of the first innings. Bushelman is undoubtedly a very pretty young man and with careful nursing will some day make a ball player but when he threw up the sponge with two men out in the first he demonstrated that he was inoculated with the bacteria of the quitter.

Zeider, who followed, played a good game for the already defeated Maroons, only allowing one run to cross the plate after he got into the box.

The catastrophe which overtook the Maroons occurred all in the last inning, and the balance of the game was sparring for wind.

Sullivan hit, White hit, Adams hit, scoring Sullivan and White. Herwig reached first, hit by pitcher, Dodge drew out to right. Gleason made two base hit scoring Adams and Herwig. Doyle singled, advancing Gleason to third. A moment later Voss led a ball go by on which Gleason scored and Doyle reached second base. Yeazel reached first on fielder's choice, going out on the base line between second and third. Yeazel had the opportunity of his life to reach second but was somnambulant and froze to first. Deaton came up and made a nice single, letting Yeazel safely to second but Yeazel, by now having become ambitious, tried to stretch it into third and Zeider, who was playing third at this time allowed the throw to get past him into the crowd of rubbernecks. At this Yeazel tried to stretch it into home and Deaton followed to third, but "Wild Bill" followed back allowing only one base as the ball was lost in the crowd. Sullivan came to bat and Bushelman had pitched him two balls when he took umbrage at one of "Wild Bill's" decisions and refused to throw any more. There was a council of war in the middle of the arena and although begged by the captain to hold his place, Bushelman's yellow streak protruded and he retired to the bench. Zeider taking the slab with his team already five to the bad in the first innings and two men down. This changed the whole team around, Donovan taking third, Fitzgerald short, Harnahan second and Terry filling the gap at left field. Zeider filled out the pass for Sullivan. White came to bat and had one strike and two balls against him when Sully, recognizing what he thought was an opportunity, led away off first. Zeider made his only bad play in the box, throwing low to Landers and allowing Yeazel to score, while Sullivan gained second and Deaton third. A moment later White flew out to short, retiring the side with six runs to their credit.

From the first until the fifth there was nothing doing, when the Maroons commenced to score. It took a hit by Zeider, an error by Deaton by Gleason and Yeazel's famous sleeping stunt to allow Voss to get across the rubber, but all those things came.

In the seventh Donovan walked, Voss sacrificed, Landers failed to negotiate first Terry hit bringing Donovan home with the second run.

It was in the eighth that the game was in jeopardy, when a small batting streak combined with a timely error by Gleason resulted in three runs crossing the rubber.

Nothing doing in the ninth and the score at the close stood six to five. The following are the statistics:

The Pacific Live Stock Association are establishing business in the province. The association was formed in Oregon, but so many of the stockmen who had stock insured in the company moved to Alberta they asked the management to establish a branch in this province and they have been incorporated under the foreign company's act.

Mr. A. J. Starkey general agent for association, and proprietor of one of the largest wheat ranches in the Big Bend County, Oregon, arrived in the city this week. He intends to settle here and has sent for his wife and child to Georgia.

Gorlock of Dallas, Ore., is in the city. Mr. Gorlock has recently sold his wheat ranch in Oregon and has been looking over the situation in this province and has decided to locate here. He is also interested in the Pacific Live Stock Association.

A GREAT IDEA

Alderman Bellamy has struck a brilliant idea. How it hit him is a mystery, but at last night's council meeting he suggested calling for tenders for the advertising of the city's by-laws. The lowest tender would naturally be from the paper with the smallest circulation, but to Alderman Bellamy this would naturally be good enough to advertise the city's business in.

The city by-laws are generally for the expenditure of large sums of money and should receive as great publicity as possible. The custom has been to publish them in both daily papers and it has worked well as evidenced by the votes upon these by-laws, and this plan is not likely to be changed to accepting a low tender from some dinky little sheet.

This worthy alderman was not so zealous about tenders for the purchase of a road roller or a cement mixer.

AN ILL-INFORMED CRITIC

"Collier's" is the name of a weekly magazine published in the city of New York, which justifies the publication of a "Canadian edition" by about twenty lines of editorial attention per week. The quality of the attention is in strict harmony with its quantity and purpose and is usually about as far removed from the facts and as remotely related to the common sense of the matter as is conveniently possible. Such attention is like a little goad under any conditions, though it is not without possibilities of harm among those who have developed a taste for the peculiar provender dispensed by the Collier caravanary. That Edmonton should be called on to provide material for this hash is neither very surprising, nor, when the quality of this product is not worse than usual, is it on the whole, of much consequence. A levy is made in the current issue, however, in which the literary chef appears even less particular than usual as regards both the facts of the case and the manner of treatment. The subject is the Grand Trunk Pacific agreement, the assumption of Collier is that the agreement was concluded by the council without the consent of the ratepayers by whom it would be condemned, and the conclusion that the city council is peculiarly stupid or corrupt.

It is not so very strange that an American journal should take an interest occasionally in the development of the new Canadian Transcontinental Railway system or that the purpose of this attention should be to discredit an enterprise which will double the commercial strength of Canada, and give it the shortest railway across the continent as a competitor for trade between Europe and the Orient. Had Collier, however, been reasonably familiar with the general aspects of municipal government in Canada, it would have understood that while the Grand Trunk Pacific agreement was wise or otherwise, it could not be made without the ratification of the ratepayers, and had it been reasonably familiar with the local situation it would have known that the ratepayers have already endorsed the basis of the agreement and that the details of variance with this must be submitted for their approval. The predicament of Collier appears to be that, ignorant of the facts of the case, it has replaced the conditions and practices with which it is familiar. If there has been a display of stupidity in the incident, the term should neither come from Collier, nor be applied to the council, and the source of the ill-informed critic's tenders the apologies due, the sooner the ridiculous situation will be relieved.

IN THE TOILS

Mr. B. I. Borden has made a speech at either the event or the delivery of a considerable number of warrants in the publication under-funding in the Conservative press even of the far west. The theme of Mr.

Borden is claimed to have been public ownership, about which he appears to have said many unquestioned commonplace things, varied by one passage which was saved from being commonplace by its use it was not correct. The commonly admitted points were that both natural resources and franchises are the property of the state; the fallacy in claiming that the party which he has the fortune to lead has contributed anything toward securing the administration of this property in the interests of the public by the means of public ownership. Whatever may have been the opinion of his admirers in Truro it is too early in the day for either Mr. Borden or his journalistic luminaries to persuade the people of Canada that the equivocal and hedging language of the Conservative leader in 1904 bore any reasonable resemblance to a campaign for public ownership or bound either himself or his party to build a transcontinental railway under this or any other plan if they were returned to power.

Whatever the Conservative party in Canada has contributed toward popularizing public ownership has been purely incidental, purely accidental and exactly contrary to the end in view. If, and so far as, the people of Canada are inclined toward public ownership that tendency is not due to any desire to limit the field of private enterprise by the establishment of communal conditions, but to the desire for self-preservation from the exactions of private monopoly. Public ownership in Canada is regarded not as an end in itself, but as a means for protecting the public from the unbridled greed of the individual or the corporation. This means has been suggested only where and when the abuse has been felt and has been most frequently suggested where the abuse was most severely felt. The greatest monopoly in Canada has thus become unintentionally the most powerful agent for propagating the doctrine of public ownership and it is as the parent of that monopoly that the Conservative party has inadvertently rendered its only aid in spreading the doctrine which appeared to offer relief.

The country can expect for many years from Mr. Borden's party only what that party has contributed in the past. Supposing, as he has given us little cause to suppose, Mr. Borden to be sincere, what of his lieutenants who hold directorships in the monopolies which took root and flourished under the beneficent patronage of the late Government? Without these men the leader can do nothing and it is quite as certain that any means he might propose to relieve the public from the grasp of the corporations over which they preside would receive no assistance from them. But if an equivocal campaign, supposedly on behalf of Government ownership, but really leaving the party free to do or not to do after the election were over; if such policy were proposed and applied likely to add track indefinitely an enterprise which would destroy the power of a corporation in which these men are interested, Mr. Borden could rely on the heartfelt support of his assistant leaders. Such was the promise the C. P. R. politicians saw in Mr. Borden's non-committal, double-construction platform of 1904 and it was because they saw the promise that they supported the platform. Until these men retire from politics and their places are taken by others with no "corporate connections" Mr. Borden and his party can lend no material aid to public ownership or any other means designed to free the public from the monopolies.

WHITE WHALE LAKE.

Correspondence.

Wednesday, the 5th inst., was a gala day at White Whale Lake. A picnic was held under the auspices of the men's class of which Rev. C. F. Hopkins is president. About 10.30 a.m. a happy company bearing well-filled baskets began to possess the grounds at the head of harbor bay. Tables were arranged under the trees at a spot affording shade, refreshing breeze, and a view of the water, such a variety of sounds had never before echoed over the glassy Whale. Intermingled with the continuous put put of the gasoline launches were the usual hum of voices at a picnic, laughter and cheers from the children at the swings, the rattling of dishes, and sweet strains of music from those out in the boats. The program, consisting of both land and water sports was varied enough to engage all. After dinner and tea a short time was devoted to singing and speaking. Conspicuous in the athletic contests were Ernie Hopkins, Al. Patterson, S. Fuller, Art Hopkins, E. Carthew, A. Bush, Geo. Laight and Basil Dunn. The thanks of the community are due Dr. Carthew and Mr. Bush for placing themselves and their gasoline yachts at the service of those who wished a rapid skim over the limpid waters of the Whale; also to Mr. Dunn for furnishing boats and canoes. The committee of management consisted of Messrs. Dr. Carthew, W. K. Shields, G. Laight, A. Wood, R. Hadley, A. Root, W. Best and W. Parrett, while Messdames Shilling, Wood, Hopkins, Laight, Hadley, Best with many helpers presided at the tables.

OTTAWA FAIR OPENED

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier opened the Canada Central Fair this afternoon, he spoke of his being a citizen of Ottawa, and the great progress

(Bulletin Special)
Toronto, Sept. 10.—Premier Whitney arriving home from Europe today made a non-committal reference to power concessions granted in his absence.

Hallifax, N.S., Sept. 10.—The Conservative picnic at Truro on Sunday was attended by about 2,000 persons and there was lots of fun outside of the speaking. Hon. G. E. Foster, who was billed as the star attraction, did not show up.

Ne'ron, Sept. 10.—Politics are again warming up here. Last week notice was given of the labor attitude by W. R. Trotter, western organizer of the Dominion Trades and Labor Council. Resolutions were passed condemning the agitation to mitigate the severity of the import tax upon Chinamen and also to do everything possible to exclude Hindoo or any other class of labor that would not assimilate with Caucasian or who would take inferior wages. A note of warning was sounded to the 20,000 club who are proposing to send some of the printing advertising the city, away from Nelson, the threat being made that any such course would be met by a withdrawal of the patronage of the labor party.

DEPRAUDED PROSPECTIVE SETTLERS

(Bulletin Special)
Ottawa, Sept. 10.—Kellog, an American of Lafayette, Indiana, has been arrested at that place at the instance of the Canadian immigration authorities for obtaining money under false pretences. Pretending to be a Canadian land agent he offered to sell wheat lands for three and a half an acre, organizing parties of thirty from towns in Indiana and Wisconsin and collected fifty dollars from each person to pay the expenses of a trip to Canada in a special train. Neither Kellog nor the train materialized on the date set and the arrest followed.

TRIBUTE TO FATHER LACOMBE.

A writer to the Toronto Star referring to a visit to Winnipeg speaks in this way of Rev. Father Lacombe: Rev. Mr. Thos. Duhamel, D. D., Archbishop of Montreal was the chief guest of honor. He and the most Rev. Adelaide Langerin, Archbishop of St. Boniface, blessed the cornerstone. The chief dignitaries of the Western church were present and also Father Lacombe, the venerable priest, lovingly termed the "Hermit of Pincher Creek," carrying with him the memories of 60 years on the frontier, of the great Cree Indian battle in which he urged forward his Indian friends and encouraged them by courageous exhibitions to beat off their fierce enemies from the south. Bent with age and his withered figure scarcely able to withstand the sweep of the wind across the valley of the Red River the aged prelate was the recipient of that affection that is especially noticeable between men who have faced imminent death together. In the little old town of St. Boniface, overshadowed by the tremendous metropolitan activity of its huge neighbor, there are hundreds of old voyageurs and buffalo-hunters who have stood in the presence of hostile savages with only Father Lacombe between them and certain death. In such crisis it is the testimonies of these old frontiers of the great plains that the frail old priest never trembles. They were unafraid for they had faced death too many times to have that physical fear of dissolution that civilization implants in the bosoms of men, but they could not contemplate their horrible fate with that same imperious indifference that characterized Father Lacombe and so they love him, and when the veteran of so many heroic situations in the west appeared at the St. Boniface he was loudly acclaimed.

PROF. MACOUN'S REPORT.

Ottawa, Sept. 11.—Prof. Macoun, naturalist to the Dominion government, has returned from the Northwest, where he made a study of vegetation along the route of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. The professor drove from Portage la Prairie to Edmonton, nearly a thousand miles, and, speaking of the unsettled lands, stated that they will yield as good wheat as the land now under cultivation. "We travelled," he said, "over hundreds of miles that will grow as good crops, and only saw six settlers. Think of that, with all the thousands that are going into the country. The untitled wheat lands of the Dominion are of great extent." Prof. Macoun warned western farmers against impoverishing the land by raising wheat only, which he regarded as a crime. Mixed farming will have to be resorted to if the fertility of the soil is to be maintained.

DEPUTY MINISTER IN VICTORIA

Mr. MacKenzie, Tells of the Alberta Educational Department

Victoria Colonist: D. S. MacKenzie, of Edmonton, deputy minister of education for the province of Alberta, arrived in town on Saturday and is registered at the Dominion Hotel. The object of Mr. MacKenzie's visit to the province is one of pleasure and business combined. He desires to become more conversant with the educational system of this province and the administration of the schools and to this end he purposes to devote his holiday in the west and hopes to have the opportunity of meeting the educationalists of the Capital during the ensuing week.

"The two provinces being side by side," said Mr. MacKenzie in an interview with the Colonist yesterday. "I hope by studying the question here, to be able to report intelligently on any differences existing between Alberta and British Columbia."

"I have never before been further west than Banff and I can scarcely begin to express my impressions of the magnificent scenery along the route of the C.P.R. line."

"Touching the course of Educational legislation," Mr. MacKenzie continued "at the recent session of the Alberta legislature a bill was passed for the inauguration of a provincial university. It is the intention to have it constituted a degree conferring body with which other colleges may become affiliated."

"The purpose is to secure uniformity of standards by reserving the degree, containing power to a central institution. If this were not done various colleges under denominational management would in all probability become established with degree conferring powers with the result that uniformity would be destroyed and great confusion caused in the curricula of high schools and institutions." Mr. MacKenzie is of the opinion that co-operation amongst the educational departments of Western Canada particularly, would be very applicable. The provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan have a particularly strong position in such matters in so far that they have opportunities of avoiding the pitfalls that other provinces either fell or were forced into through circumstances existing at the time and with access to all the ordinances of all the provinces they have means of finding out in what respects there have been satisfactory or unsatisfactory and with this object before them they seek to build up the framework of their laws for it is easier to build on good and new foundations than to correct old errors. The schools of Alberta are growing very rapidly in size and in number. Towns and villages which had only two or three teachers two or three years ago, now have eight or ten. The number of school districts in the province has increased wonderfully since the inauguration of the provincial government a year ago. During the first year of its existence the department of education has established one forth as many schools as were in existence in Alberta when it was formed into a province. The government makes it as easy as possible for settlers to establish a district and as soon as a dozen children of school age are located in a neighborhood the residents may take the prescribed proceedings to have a district created.

The Government realizes the need of educating the foreign elements that are flocking into the country, particularly those from central Europe.

These people are found to be quite anxious to have schools established which are to be conducted in the English language, on account of their inability to understand English they are unable to take the initiative and the department has in its service an experienced teacher who devotes his whole time to the establishment and supervision of schools among foreigners. The question of the formation of a district is invariably submitted to a vote of the resident people interested and particularly among the Galicians settlers; it is very rarely that a vote is recorded against the formation of such school districts. When these people came to the country they were very anxious to settle near each other and the consequence is there are hundreds of square miles inhabited almost by immigrants from Central Europe. In a manner this fact facilitates matters, viz., so far as education of the rising generation is concerned though in another way it is a detriment in so far as their comparative isolation from other English speaking communities tends to lengthen the process of becoming acquainted with the laws, customs and languages of our people.

Speaking generally, the work of the education department has grown up with the determination of being aggressive and progressive for the proper education of all classes in the province. The liberal support given by the provincial government to schools in the way of grants, lightens the burden upon the shoulders of the settlers so that the establishment of a school does not constitute too heavy a tax upon them or create a desire to escape from the jurisdiction of the educational body. All prospective teachers are required to pass the regular departmental examinations unless they can submit certificates of scholarship which the department can recognize. Further than this, after attaining the necessary scholarship standing all teachers are required to take a course of normal training in order to qualify.

THE PEACE RIVER DISTRICT (Toronto Globe)

The Weekly Globe publishes some interesting information about the physical geography of the Peace River region, furnished by a Mr. Faulkner, who has made an extensive investigation of that part of the Dominion. According to him it possesses long stretches of navigable waterways, extensive coal deposits, immense areas of agricultural land, a genial climate and other natural resources and facilities. In all this he but confirms what has been the popular impression about Northern Alberta ever since it was traversed by Butler and subsequent adventurers who lifted the veil of obscurity by which the Hudson's Bay officials managed to keep it hidden from view.

Waterways have lost much of their relative importance since the introduction of a steel rails and of effective railway construction plant; mineral deposits of all sorts may be exhausted by development and consumption, but with a suitable soil and a favorable climate may go on indefinitely and interminably. According to Mr. Faulkner, there is a large amount of fertile prairie land capable of growing wheat crops equal to those of Manitoba and ripening earlier. He alleges that at Fort Vermilion, on the Peace River, wheat averages from forty to fifty bushels to the acre, and that there are two flour mills owned and operated at this point. The favorableness of the climate, which is surprising in view of the fact that the fort is almost seven hundred miles north of the United States boundary, is due to the prevalence of the celebrated Chinook wind, which has a like effect in southern Alberta about Fort Macleod and Calgary. These statements go to show how great are the possibilities of the west, and how attractive a future the Province of Alberta has.

Quite naturally Mr. Faulkner has something to say about the construction of the National Transcontinental Railway, for which the Peace River Pass through the Rocky Mountains, is as good as any other, while it is more accessible. The latest information given out by the Grand Trunk Pacific officials is to the effect that no decision has yet been reached as to either the pass through which the railway will enter British Columbia, or the route by which it will reach the Pacific Ocean. These are bound to be settled together since it is quite possible for a favorable pass to lead into a very difficult country.

RICH COPPER FIND NEAR CARDSTON.

Cardston, Alta., Sept. 11.—What may possibly turn out to be a very important discovery to this part of the country has just come to light, viz., the discovery of a fine lead of copper mixed with gold. A well known prospector, J. H. Van Pelt, has for some time been trying out the rocks in the mountains near the border, on the American side. Last year he found copper, and several veins were brought to light running in one direction and everything pointed to the fact that if followed these would run together. Operations were started again this spring and with greater rapidity than was expected the lead developed so that now there is in plain sight some of the richest copper ore ever seen with an admixture of gold and silver. This find is on Kennedy Creek which runs into the St. Mary's river just below the lake and just below where the large dam is to be built by the U. S. government. The location of this mine is about 25 miles southwest from Cardston which is the nearest point for supplies, etc. Work will be carried on on this prospect all winter and it is possible that developments will take place that will astonish even the most sanguine. For some years copper prospects have been worked in this vicinity but this is the richest find yet and how rich it is difficult to compute, but expert reports place the value higher than the novice is willing to grasp at present.

THE LETHBRIDGE OUTRAGES.

The dynamite outrages at Lethbridge and the miners' union have taken on a new phase on account of a statement made recently by Sherman, the organizer of the miners' union. In an address last week he said that there would have been no dynamiting north of the track if the coal company had not brought up Thiel detectives from Chicago. That he has positive evidence that the detectives incited these acts and if they had not got out suddenly they would have been prosecuted. The council has decided to take Sherman at his word, and the following resolution was passed at a meeting of the council: "That the solicitor be instructed to write Mr. Sherman that if he has any information that detectives employed by the coal company incited the recent outrages in dynamiting, the city will use every effort to have them prosecuted, provided he furnish the necessary evidence."

COMMISSIONER APPOINTED

J. W. Pace Ge's Office by Ballots of Aldermen, P. McNaughton Returning Second

At the meeting of the city council last night, after the routine business had been attended to, Ald. Griesbach suggested that as they now had a full council meeting, and as they had to make the appointment of a commissioner they should proceed to do so now.

Mayor May asked how many applications there were.

Secretary Kinaird replied that there were three.

Mayor May suggested that the council go into committee of the whole and ballot on the applications, the lowest to drop out.

Ald. Griesbach objected to the balloting system, stating that he had his mind made up as to what he was going to do and would prefer open voting. He made a motion that the appointment be offered to Arthur G. Harrison. In so doing he said: "I believe he is a man eminently capable of filling the position. He is a civil engineer, a good business man, a university graduate and has good ability for organization. I believe he is head and shoulders above any other applicant."

Ald. Bellamy said he did not see how they could consider a motion of this kind.

Mayor May thought that they might put his name in and ballot on it along with the others.

Ald. Latta thought that as the city had called for applications and that as Mr. Harrison had not applied his name should not be considered. For that reason he was going to vote against the motion.

Ald. Griesbach's motion was not seconded and he moved that Mr. Harrison's name should be submitted for consideration. Alderman Manson seconded the motion.

Ald. Bellamy asked if Ald. Griesbach had any assurance that he would accept.

Ald. Griesbach said that he would not say that. He thought that if the office were offered to him and he did not accept they could then take up the discussion at the next meeting.

Ald. Griesbach's motion was carried and Mr. Harrison's name was included among those to be considered.

The applications received were then read. They were from J. W. Pace, P. McNaughton and J. W. Galbraith.

Ald. Picard moved and Ald. Calhoun seconded that they proceed to ballot on the names, which was carried.

Ald. Picard moved and Ald. Bellamy seconded that they go into committee of the whole.

Ald. Griesbach pointed out that in that case the mayor would vote, whereas if the selection was made by open vote the mayor would not have a vote except in case of a tie.

Mayor May said that he thought in such a case he should have a vote.

The motion was put and the council resolved itself into committee of the whole.

As the ballots were being passed around Ald. Griesbach took occasion to observe that the council was in the position of looking for a good man to fill the position. It does not make any difference who the man is or when it was the duty of the city to get the best man possible and that he considered Mr. Harrison that man.

When the first ballot was counted it stood:

McNaughton 4
Pace 3
Harrison 2
Galbraith 0

The names of Messrs. Harrison and Galbraith were dropped out and another ballot taken resulting in:

Pace 6
McNaughton 3

It was moved by Ald. Griesbach, seconded by Ald. Manson, that the committee rise and report, recommending the appointment of J. W. Pace.

The motion was carried, the committee reported and the council accepted the recommendation of the committee, appointing J. W. Pace commissioner.

The salary was set at $2,000 per annum for the balance of year.

AN ESSAY

ON LEDUC

Prize Essay in the Competition at the Recent Annual Fair

The special prize by Fetherstonhaugh & Tobin, Realty Company, Leduc, for the best Essay on Leduc constituency was awarded to Rev. C. H. Shephard.

LEDUC CONSTITUENCY.

The town of Leduc with a population of upwards of our hundred, is named after Father Leduc, a venerable figure in the West, who ministered to his people there, when the town was in swaddling clothes.

It is situated on the Calgary and Edmonton railroad, about twenty miles south of the latter city, beside a pretty lake that adds much to a situation already exceedingly favorable; for surrounding the town, even to the limits of the constituency, there lies a sweep of country which in respect to great possibilities of production, has little to equal it, and nothing superior from the Rockies to the Red River.

The soil is uniformly a rich black loam with a clay sub-soil, and the crops are such as delight the farmer's heart, while they repay the toil of his hands.

The constituency comprises about forty townships, or an area of between fourteen and fifteen hundred square miles, and includes within its bounds many fine lakes and numberless small rivers and creeks, that insure fertility to the soil, as they irrigate the land in their passage north to the Saskatchewan.

The value of the constituency is greatly enhanced by having its area almost equally divided between prairie and bush land, thus giving to the settler a wide range of choice in his selection of land. A further asset of the constituency is the delightful climate, which is enjoyable in common with almost the whole of Alberta. "Sunny Alberta," sounds pleasantly in speech, but in experience it is even more enjoyable. The long hours of sunshine here experienced, not only add a rich quality to the grain, but they put the red corpuscles in the blood, and hope and courage in the heart. The fall and winter seasons are especially enjoyable. Here there is nothing of the severity of Manitoba or Ontario winters, nothing of the wind storms that prevail to such an extent in the southern part of the Province and nothing of the excessive humidity that is characteristic of the rainy seasons of British Columbia; but fine, dry, clear, sunny weather is that which marks our climate, and makes our location so desirable for settlement and habitation.

The constituency is especially rich in two items of asset which are always important factors in that which makes for success in any country or community, namely, water and fuel. Water is plentiful all over the constituency, by reason of the regular rainfall which keeps the streams and rivers running, and fills up the lakes and wells. Lakes are abundant all over the east country, and the western part of the constituency is interlaced with very many small streams, tributary to the Saskatchewan; and everywhere, desirable wells of the purest water may be had at easy depths of twelve to twenty feet.

Fuel, too, is a splendid provision found all over the constituency in great abundance. Beds of coal have been located throughout the Eastern parts, in the prairie country, and in the central parts about Leduc, and farther west in every coulee and river bank coal is found in almost unlimited quantities, ensuring a fuel supply both for house use and manufacture for all time to come. In addition to the large supplies of coal so easily obtainable, the western part of the country is covered with fine stands of timber, serving in the first instance for fuel, but better still, creating quite a local lumber industry.

Many constituencies to the south of us, in addition to importing their coal for fuel, have to even purchase their poles for fence stakes at a high price, while this constituency not only supplies its own needs abundantly in this respect, but has a considerable export trade of wood and coal, bringing revenue to the early settler in these parts.

But the richest asset of the constituency is its grain growing capacity. The land is rich beyond compare. The crops standing in our fields today are declared by honest testimony to excel anything that can be shown in the great grain belts of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. The samples of grain, both in wheat and oats, are declared the finest shown within the Canadian boundaries.

The elevators in Leduc town alone, for last season, shipped between five and six hundred thousand bushels of grain. And yet, farming in the constituency is but in its infancy.

Although this section, like most parts of the West is essentially a grain country, it is not wholly so. Dairying is rapidly coming to the front, and many of the country people are realizing substantial profits from the sale of their cream. No doubt the near future will see the country dotted with both creameries and cheese factories.

Neither is the constituency to be without its necessary manufactures. The scarcity of lumber is necessitating the manufacture of other building material. One brick yard in the district is to be followed by others on a larger scale, and the manufacture of cement blocks is already in operation.

Perhaps that which is most worthy of mention in reference to this constituency is the rapid spread of educational facilities. The country is planted everywhere with public schools. It speaks much, not alone for the governments and legislators of our country, in that they have done so much to encourage education, by the appropriation of public lands to establish an educational fund, but also for the earlier settlers in the country, that they recognize the value of the schools, and made the education of the children a matter of first principles. It is nothing short of marvellous that in a constituency as new, there should already be upwards of forty school districts, the majority of them showing thoroughly well equipped schools, presided over by high grade teachers. This condition of things is indeed, as Froebel said "the other such welding influence to hammer into shape, the heterogeneous mass of population that drifts into a new country. These schools are so scattered throughout all parts of the constituency, that it would be hardly possible for a settler to locate anywhere within the boundaries, without being within reach of one of them. And although the country is new, and the people scattered, yet these teachers in our district are paid far better than teachers in the same work are paid in the cultured east.

But while the constituency may boast of its immeasurable resources and pride itself on its unparalleled advantage and exalt its splendid educational system, there can be no doubt to the right minded citizen, but that, that which is best in this, as in any constituency, is the influence of the Christian activities, which are within reach of all the people. In this part of the country there are the same number of Christian churches that there are public schools, forty. These forty churches also, are scattered widely over the country; and the ministers associated with them follow the people to the borders of settlement, and carry to them the comforts and inspirations of the gospel.

Why not then call at our office, see the list of purchasers during the past three days, let us drive you over the ground and be in a position to judge for yourself. Don't you think that good property like this will in a short time be at a premium when you consider that it adjoins the

We do. And more, where can you buy such property with open RIVER VIEW at such prices? Do you own a map of the city? If not, call at our office and get one. Measure the distances and you will find (possibly to your astonishment) that the distance from the Alberta Hotel to the corner of this Park is the same as the distance to Sixteenth Street West. Remember these are view lots. We have lots all the way from $90.00 upwards.

NEW MINISTER INDUCTED

At Queens Ave. Presbyterian Church
Last Evening

Rev. C. A. Myers, late of Calgary, was duly inducted as pastor of the Queens Avenue Presbyterian church last evening. There was a good attendance and the meeting was called to order by Rev. Dr. McQueen, of the First Presbyterian church after which Rev. David Leith, of Stony Plain, led the opening devotional exercises and preached a brief sermon from the text "What do ye more than others," Mat. 5:42. He spoke of the statement that many were kept away from church by the inconsistencies in the lives of Christians, and thought it a truth that should be carefully considered by this young church just starting into life. He said it is only by telling like Christ that you can work with Christ. He said that there is a heavy yoke, and there are nominal Christians who do not put God in their daily life and cause trouble. Thus Christians should live so as to show a great difference between themselves and the world, for it is not what we believe, but what we do that counts. There were several reasons why this should be so. First, God demands it. The old law "Thou shalt not," has been superseded by Christ's "Love God, love thy neighbor." Secondly, there is a heavy yoke possibly resting upon professing Christians to commend Christianity everywhere. Preaching the Gospel means live the Gospel. If it is not fair to judge Christianity by an imperfect example, but we should first take the perfect example—Jesus, and then look at the best men, not the poorest. Hundreds of thousands come to our Great West and forget all but toll, but man to be a man cannot live without Jesus without cultivating his immortal soul. Many pay God last and last, giving him the takings of the fields rather than a share of the harvest. Lastly, Christians are doing more for the world than any other people. The Gospel is being preached throughout the length and breadth of the world and its influence is felt in the darkest corners.

Dr. McQueen, representing the Edmonton presbytery, gave a brief history of the church society since its organization about one year ago, and spoke of the friendly feeling existing between the parent church and its child. Rev. Myers was then called forward, responded to the usual impressive questions, and was declared the duly inducted pastor of the church. Rev. A. Forbes, of Fort Saskatchewan, offered a prayer, after which Rev. Dr. McDonald, of Strathcona, gave the charge to the pastor, and the Rev. Mr. Douglas gave the charge to the people.

At the close of the regular service, a reception was tendered. Rev. and Mrs. Myers, during which an excellent program was rendered, in which Polyphonic Orchestra played a prominent part. Messrs. McDonald and McClelland also gave several acceptable numbers and brief addresses were given the pastors, by Dr. McQueen, representing the presbytery; A. R. Groff, of the church session; Rev. A. S. Tuttle, of Grace Methodist Church; Mr. G. H. H. of the T. P. S. C. E.; and Mr. Wilson, of the Sunday school. Rev. Myers made a brief but very appropriate reply. Refreshments were served and brought to a close one of the most pleasant evenings in the history of the young church society.

BELIEVE ADDITION

As the city expands and its population becomes denser, suburban property becomes more valuable. For a while this year suburban property in the west end went with a swing. Now the swing seems to have veered round to the east end suburban sales, all of which shows that Edmonton is pushing out on all sides to accommodate her rapidly increasing population.

Believe is a new suburban property that has been put upon the market this week, and judging from the sales already made it has become very popular with investors as any parcel here offers upon the market in any part of the environs of the city.

This property comprises about 150 acres lying immediately east of the eastern limits of the city and extending from Alberta avenue on the north to the river's edge on the south where the Saskatchewan sweeps around in a broad curve, which gives comparative still water on the Belieue side, and this affords opportunity for a shingle beach.

About one third of the distance of the entire length of the property from the river runs the gradual slope of the Saskatchewan bank, having no cut bank, with Jasper avenue extension traversing the upper edge. For several blocks north of Jasper a magnificent view is obtained up and down the valley of the Saskatchewan, and away over the country to Clover Bar and Strathcona.

Taking the Alberta Hotel as the centre of the city, Believe is nearer the centre than Twenty First street, and is actually closer to the centre of population than any other suburban site. Besides, there is unobstructed access to it without interruption by rail-

RELICS OF OLD TRAGEDY

Corporal Lossange Finds Bones of Man Lost Twenty-four Years

Since

(Bulletin Special).
Moosomin, Sept. 11.—Investigation of the human bones found by Corporal Lossange, R.N.W.M.P., in August last, south of here, disclosed the fact that they are the remains of John Robertson, aged 65, who disappeared Nov. 19, 1882, from the home of Mr. Evans, who lived 16 miles south of Bradview. Robertson had gone for the mails and became lost. After a careful search his wife returned to their former home in Enfield, Ont. He also left an adopted son. The police are anxious to hear from friends or relatives.

way tracks.

The northerly half is immediately contiguous to the largest park in the city, and within fifteen minutes' walk of the bulk of the city's population, while the south portion has the double advantage of the park and the river view.

Another feature that cannot be overlooked is that values in adjacent property are rising; for example, in Norwood, where there are good school advantages, and where values have risen from $175 to $250 this summer.

The general character of the property is high, in common with all east end property, which is higher than the city proper.

This property has been subdivided so as to preserve a driveway along the bank 120 feet wide with boulevards. The neglect of the city council to secure such a driveway along the bank in the west end has been a matter of sincere regret on the part of hundreds of our citizens. A driveway has been reserved along the river bank, which is thirty feet above the high water mark. The river has never been known, in the memory of the oldest citizens to have flooded the flat which forms that part below the gently sloping bank.

That this property is sure to meet with a ready demand can be gauged from the fact that several conservative west end residents, and those interested in west end property have purchased here.
